Re: The FairTax – HR-25

Dear [Congressperson or Senator last name]:

The Income Tax, at nearly 70,000 pages, has far outstripped any functional capacity it had, assuming it ever had any capacity, to collect revenue for the federal government. Do you believe you/we will be able to solve the enormous problems of the current system by continuing to try to modify and further complicate it? If not, wouldn't you find the FairTax to be far more beneficial? Have you thought about the fact that we now have the equivalent of 3 million people working full time doing the "paperwork" of the income tax system? That's an obscene waste of human capital. How can a system that people can't understand or keep up with be fair? Wouldn't simplicity and transparency be much better?

And how about the 13 trillion US-owned dollars stuck in foreign investments because their owners won't pay the 35% income tax assessment to repatriate them? Wouldn't the natural repatriation of those dollars boost our economy far better than TARP 1 & 2 (and probably 3 & 4)?

Do you realize that home prices and home mortgage rates will drop when the FairTax passes? And ENTIRE mortgage payments, not just the interest part will be paid with pre-federal income tax dollars AND with pre-social security and medicare tax dollars!

Don't you think your concerns about the imperfections of the FairTax are relatively minor compared to the proven ills of the income tax system?

Are you sure you're giving the FairTax fair consideration? Please reconsider and help America recover from the heavy burdens of our current system.

Thank You.

Respectfully,
